

Irit Aharony
Department of Near Eastern Languages and Civilizations
Harvard University
Cambridge, MA
(617) 495-7958
aharony@fas.harvard.edu

Education:

1982 - B.A. in Modern Hebrew Literature & History of Art
Bar-Ilan University, Israel

1991 - M.A. in Modern Hebrew Literature
Bar-Ilan University, Israel

1992 - Certificate in Planning and Writing of Educational Programs
Every Man's University, Israel

1998 - Ph.D in Modern Hebrew Literature
Bar-Ilan University, Israel
Dissertation: "Wandering and Way Searching - The Element of Wandering in the Israeli Literature 1948-1997, Works by S. Yizhar, Amos Oz, A.B.
Yehoshua, Yaakov Shabtay and Orly Castel Bloom"
Bar-Ilan University, Israel

Professional Background:

1999 - present - Preceptor of Modern Hebrew
Harvard University
Department of Near Eastern Languages and Civilizations

1996-1999 - T.A Modern Hebrew
Harvard University
Department of Near Eastern Languages and Civilizations

1981-1994 - Coordinator of Gifted Students Program
Karray High School
Rishon-Le-Zion, Israel

1990-1991 - Pedagogical Coordinator
Department for Gifted Students
Ministry of Education, Israel

1975-1980 - Teacher and Educator
Nitzanim, Elementary School
Beer-Sheva, Israel

1971-1973 - educator of Special Care Teenagers
Ein-Carem, Israel
(Military Service)