

Some Assembly Required
Work, Community, and
Politics in China's
Rural Enterprises

Harvard East Asian Monographs 302

Some Assembly Required
Work, Community, and
Politics in China's
Rural Enterprises

Calvin Chen

Published by the Harvard University Asia Center and Distributed by Harvard University Press
Cambridge (Massachusetts) and London 2008

© 2008 by the President and Fellows of Harvard College

Printed in the United States of America

The Harvard University Asia Center publishes a monograph series and, in coordination with the Fairbank Center for Chinese Studies, the Korea Institute, the Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies, and other faculties and institutes, administers research projects designed to further scholarly understanding of China, Japan, Vietnam, Korea, and other Asian countries. The Center also sponsors projects addressing multidisciplinary and regional issues in Asia.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Chen, Calvin, 1968–

Some assembly required : work, community, and politics in China's rural enterprises / Calvin Chen.

p. cm. -- (Harvard East Asian monographs)

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 978-0-674-02783-1 (cl : alk. paper)

1. Rural industries--China--Zhejiang Sheng. 2. Rural development--China--Zhejiang Sheng. 3. Industrialization--China--Zhejiang Sheng. 4. China--Economic policy. I. Title.

HD2910.Z8C4414 2008

338.0951'242--dc22

2007039735

Index by Eileen Doherty

♻️ Printed on acid-free paper

Last figure below indicates year of this printing

18 17 16 15 14 13 12 11 10 09 08

For My Parents

Lourdes and Jack Chen

Acknowledgments

THIS BOOK REPRESENTS the culmination of a long intellectual journey. When I first started thinking about why China's rural enterprises have been so successful, I could hardly imagine that my research would take me to Wenzhou and Jinhua, two locales undergoing momentous and sometimes gut-wrenching change. Although I had not met or known any of the incredible people at Phoenix and Jupiter prior to this project, they welcomed me into their homes and treated me as if I were an old friend. I only regret that in order to protect their anonymity, I cannot thank them by name. Nevertheless, I am forever indebted and grateful to them for sharing their time, experiences, and wisdom with me. This book would not have been at all possible without them.

This book also embodies the indelible influence of my teachers. Ken Jowitt has been an amazing mentor, always offering wise counsel, inspiration, and friendship. Tom Gold went beyond the call of duty, kindly sharing his China contacts with me as well as valuable advice during fieldwork and the write-up of the dissertation. Elizabeth Perry not only introduced me to the field and study of Chinese politics but always provided unstinting moral support and invaluable guidance. Franz Schurmann continually expanded my scholarly horizons, challenging me to seek and see a deeper meaning in my work. I also thank Chris Ansell, Jyotirindra Das Gupta, Hong Yung Lee, David Leonard, Sandy Muir, and Greg Noble for their encouragement and kindness.

In China, I am deeply grateful to Professors Ying Shijie and Han Hui of the Zhejiang Institute of Asia-Pacific Studies for facilitating my research requests and visits to various enterprises. This project could not have been undertaken without them. Han Hui especially went to great lengths to ensure that my visits were successful and enjoyable. Thanks also to Ma Jinlong of the Wenzhou Economic Reform Commission, Zhong Qiushi of the Wenzhou Liaison Office, and Xiang Jianqiang in Jinhua for their help with logistics during my research visits. In Taiwan, Professors King-yu Chang and Grace Yu graciously arranged for me to use research materials at National Chengchi University.

Early financial support for this project was provided by the University of California at Berkeley's Center for Chinese Studies, Berkeley's Department of Political Science, and a Hewlett Foundation Write-up Grant. I also benefited greatly from fellowships provided by Mount Holyoke College and the An Wang Postdoctoral Fellowship at Harvard's Fairbank Center for Chinese Studies.

I thank Annie Chang, Jeff Kapellas, and Yifeng Wu for their kindness and for providing a warm and supportive intellectual home (and unlimited coffee, donuts, and nachos) at Berkeley's Center for Chinese Studies Library. Regina Abrami, Tom Bickford, Marc Blecher, Ming Chan, Neil Diamant, Jacob Eyferth, Ken Foster, Mark Frazier, Mary Gallagher, Avery Goldstein, Doug Guthrie, Bill Hurst, Ching Kwan Lee, Kun-chin Lin, Jean Oi, Kevin O'Brien, Scott Raber, Ben Read, Tia Thornton, Andrew Walder, and Susan Whiting all provided valuable suggestions for improving various aspects of the manuscript. Jeff Kapellas and Rudy Sil graciously read through multiple drafts and helped sharpen the book's argument and focus. My thanks also go to Eileen Doherty for her fantastic work on the index.

At Mount Holyoke College, I thank Steve Ellenburg, Satya Gabriel, Penny Gill, John Grayson, Sohail Hashmi, Stephen Jones, Andy Lass, Tony Lee, Jonathan Lipman, Donal O'Shea, Eva Paus, and Jon Western for their support. I am indebted to my friends at the Fairbank Center for Chinese Studies for welcoming me into one of the most stimulating intellectual environments I have ever been a part of. I will always remember my time there with great fondness because of Bill Alford, Holly Angell, Xi Chen, Martin Dimitrov, Paul

Festa, Merle Goldman, Roderick MacFarquhar, Elizabeth Perry, Bob Ross, Mingwei Song, Ron Suleski, Wen Hao Tien, Melanie Wang, Shengqing Wu, and Baoyou Xu. I am also grateful to the two anonymous reviewers of the preliminary manuscript for the Harvard University Asia Center for their helpful comments.

In addition, I am indebted to Nila Bhattacharjya, Cheng Chen, Carole Cournoyer, Peter Eldridge, Ombretta Frau, Suzanne Z. Gottschang, Peter Jones, Kavita Khory, David Kim, Xian Cao Mei, Mike Metelits, Andrés Mares Muro, Beth Notar, Becky Packard, Michael Penn, João Resende-Santos, Joshua Roth, Patricia Schneider, Holly Sharac, Craig Smith, Jane Ting, Mark Walker, Ying Wang, Cara Wong, Phillip Wong, Angela Wu, Wen Xing, Dennis Yasutomo, and Hong Mei Zhang for their friendship, graciousness, and good cheer. Rudy Sil first persuaded me to pursue graduate study years ago and has been one of the best guides and friends anyone on this intellectual ride could ever hope for.

Most of all, I am deeply grateful to my family for all their patience, love, and support. My mother, Lourdes, my father, Jack, and my brother, Irving, have always believed that I could reach any goal I set for myself. From them, I learned the importance of dedication and perseverance, values that have served me well throughout graduate school and my career thus far. I also thank them for enduring all those years of wondering when I would finish whatever it was that was consuming so much of my time and energy. That mystery has finally been solved.

C.C.

Contents

	List of Figures	xiii
1	Introduction: The Emergence of China's Rural Enterprises Approaches to Understanding Enterprise Success / 7 Revisiting the Factory: Outlines of a Micro-level Approach / 11 Sources and Methods / 20 Overview of the Study / 25	1
2	Seeds of Transformation: Ecology, Society, and Politics in Two Townships Location, Location, Location: Ecological and Social Legacies / 30 The Limited Reach of the State/ 39 Actualizing Self-reliance /46 Concluding Remarks /51	27
3	Enterprise Survival: Ensuring Industrial Success Enterprise Beginnings / 56 Initial Work Conditions / 64 Worker Profiles / 71 Authority Relations in the Factory / 74 Refashioning the Enterprise-Cadre Relationship / 81 Concluding Remarks / 86	53
4	Enterprise Expansion: Mass Production and Centralization A New Production Approach / 90 Refashioning Authority Relations / 101 The Fragmented Enterprise / 116 Concluding Remarks / 123	88

xii     Contents

5	Enterprise Reintegration: Reconsidering Growth and Community	125
	Flexible Management: A Better Path to Organizational Stability? / 128
	Imperfect Results: The Unanticipated Challenges of Explosive Growth / 135
	Recasting and Rebuilding Enterprise Solidarity / 145
	Imperfection Redux: The Party's Limited Impact / 159
	Concluding Remarks / 166
6	Conclusion: What Lies Ahead?	168
	The Argument Revisited / 171
	A Grassroots Understanding of Rural Enterprises / 176
	Future Challenges / 181
	Reference Matter
	Notes	195
	Bibliography	207
	Index	219

Figures

1	The developmental stages of Jupiter and Phoenix	17
2	Key attributes in the developmental trajectories of Jupiter and Phoenix	19

Some Assembly Required

Work, Community, and

Politics in China's

Rural Enterprises

