Summer Senior Thesis Grant

The Committee on African Studies offers summer travel grants to assist Harvard juniors with senior honors thesis research. These grants are for research in the social sciences, humanities and related fields and are only for travel in Sub-Saharan Africa. Students must spend a minimum of eight weeks in Africa and are expected to immerse themselves in the local African culture and society through their research or living arrangements. Grants cover only partial expenses, and students should also apply elsewhere for additional funds.

Applications for summer 2010 senior thesis research grants are due by 3:00 pm, Friday, February 12, 2010 at the Committee on African Studies, Room S403, 1730 Cambridge St., CGIS.

Application requirements:
